

MAX IS AVAILABLE FOR ADOPTION

The adoption fee for Max is on a sliding scale from $100 - 175, whatever you feel is right for you. All dogs in AWF's care are spayed/neutered, vaccinated, de-wormed, tested for heartworm and are on flea and heartworm preventative.

BREED DISCLOSURE:

Due to the fact that most of our adoptable pets are strays, we cannot guarantee their breed. We list the pet's breed as the one that best matches the physical appearance, temperament, and personality of the animal. The pet may also be listed as a mix when it's actually a purebred.

This is our beautiful Max (formerly known as Marvin). Max is such a lucky boy and we are so grateful that we have been able to save Max for the second time! Max was adopted to a family in early 2010, and AWF thought that would be his forever home. When they decided that they didn't have time for him anymore, they dumped him off at the local shelter (even though they signed a contract that he must be returned to our foundation if, for any reason, things didn't work out). Thankfully, we saw Max on the shelter's website, and we were able to rescue him again.

So, Max has again started another journey, and we are determined that the next family that adopts Max will never make him homeless again. Max has a professional trainer from Stone Hollow Kennels who is working with him and who will teach him all kinds of fabulous doggy traits that will make him an absolutely wonderful companion.

Max is a Labrador Retriever who is about 4 years old and who weighs 94 pounds. Max is a sweetheart of a boy, is on the calmer side, and is great on a leash. He also loves to play fetch -- it's one of his favorite pastimes. However, there is one thing Max definitely does not like: cats!
